'Learners' Experiences of e-Learning' workshop 12th November 2008, HE Academy, York

Session 3: Themes Which of the key messages do you think are most important to get out to your community?
How do you think they can best be communicated?
Sessions 5 and 6: Implications What are the three most important things your community or clients can do to respond to learners' different experiences and requirements?
Closing discussion: memo to self When I get back to the office after today I will straight away:
And within the next week I will have:
