Dear Mr. Bellow,

I enclose with much pleasure the following books which are all official entries for the Booker Prize: Mordecai Richler's St. Urbain's Horseman the single entry from Weidenfeld & Nicolson Ltd., Russell Braddon's Prelude And Fugue For Lovers and Sean Hignett's A Cut Loaf published by Michael Joseph Ltd. and Melvyn Bragg's The Nerve plus Bernard Kops's The Passionate Past Of Gloria Gaye published by Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd.. There are also lists of titles to be considered from Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd. and Michael Joseph Ltd.. Macmillan informed me yesterday that one of their entries Not To Disturb by Muriel Spark will not be available until 21 July, the other Celia Dale's A Dark Corner is expected later this week.

Yours sincerely,

Marilyn Edwards
