

Creating with Sound

exploring resources created by the Sonic Art Research Unit (SARU), School of Arts

Steve Burholt, Rowena Rouse (RADAR), Dr Felicity Ford (SARU)

radar.brookes.ac.uk/radar/s/saru

What can you do with an archive?

- Creative Commons Licensing allows remixing and reuse of original resources, with credit still given to original creator(s)
- Listening exercises based on sounds can be used for developing new compositions and artworks
- Searching allows you to discover new links between ideas and practices
- The archive makes it possible for you to curate your own website, linking back to original resources
- You can harvest the data in the archive (OAI-PMH) into other collections

