Bookers Literary Prize - Press Conference

There will be a press conference at 3 p.m. on Thursday, September 12th at the Cafe Royal to announce the literary prize for fiction jointly sponsored by the Publishers' Association and Bookers. This should be an excellent occasion for Bookers' public relations.

Those present will include the press, publishers and a number of eminent authors, critics etc. including the panel of judges for the prize. Your presence is urgently and cordially requested and we would be grateful if you would put the date down in your diary. A formal invitation will follow and you will be sent further information about the prize as soon as possible.
