

Media Workshop, eLearning - What do we do Innovation - Developing Digital Literacies

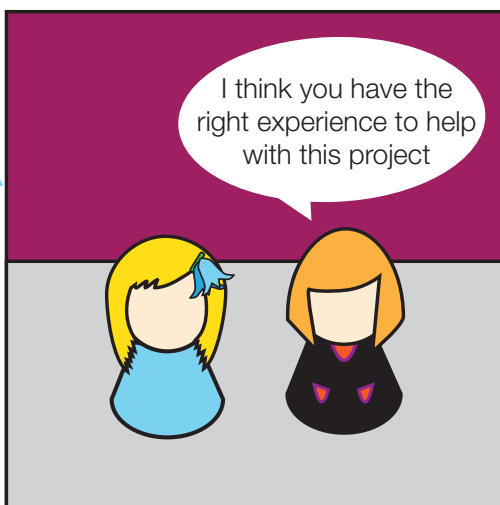

Edgar Poll from Media Workshop and a group of colleagues from other departments created the Institutional Student ePioneer Partnerships (InStePP project), funded by JISC as part of the Strategy for Enhancing the Student Experience (SESE).

The project recruited students to become ePioneers, to develop digital literacy projects proposed by members of staff.

A group of library staff wanted to know more about Google Hangouts, and created a commission via the InStePP website: Commission an ePioneer.

ePioneer, Bluebel Galloway met with the ePioneer Coach to discuss the commission and ensure that she would be able to build upon her current skills.

Bluebel developed guidelines and training sessions about Google Hangouts for the library staff.

Bluebel was awarded the Future Consultants certificate for her work on the project.