Developing as a Leader

1 Introduction

Upon is a leaders' programme, designed to grow the UK's talent pool of future Directors of Children's Services, and also help recently appointed Directors thrive in their new roles. Supported by the Department for Education, it's co-created and delivered by a consortium of partners: The Staff College, Institute of Public Care, Skills for Care and GatenbySanderson.

On completion of the Aspirant Directors programme you will have a better understanding of the characteristics of effective leadership and have improved your own capacity and capability to undertake the role. The programme will also develop your transferable personal skills such as evaluation and critical thinking.

Participants on the Aspirant Directors programme have the option to gain formal academic accreditation of their learning and obtain the award Developing as a Leader – worth 20 CATS credits at postgraduate level. This award is provided by the Institute of Public Care (IPC), which is part of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences at Oxford Brookes University. IPC are trusted experts in care. We offer consultancy, training, and applied research and evaluation services to NHS trusts, government bodies, councils, charities and commercial organisations. Our aim is to improve the health and wellbeing of citizens and communities. If you would like to find out more about the work of IPC visit https://ipc.brookes.ac.uk/.

This programme considers the role of a leader within the local and national policy context, both in terms of leading within an organisation, and across organisational boundaries. It provides tools and approaches to developing leadership capabilities set against an individual assessment of participants' strengths and weaknesses as a leader. At the beginning of the programme participants complete a 360 degree assessment and a leadership challenge/s plan detailing their learning needs, which they review at the end of the programme.

To gain the award, you are asked to build on the self assessment you have undertaken and submit a written assignment which, in the context of key national and local influences, provides an analysis of your leadership development priorities. You will have the support of an Academic Adviser to help you meet the academic requirements of the award.

Oxford Brookes University regulations for study, including those on assessment, as well as general regulations and academic policies apply, which are subject to change and may be accessed at http://www.brookes.ac.uk/regulations/..

6.1 Conditions for the award

A grade of Fail, Refer, Pass, Merit or Distinction will be awarded. To gain the award you must meet the assessment criteria within the set deadlines. We require you to submit your work electronically, using the assignment template.

6.2 Re-submissions

Students who do not pass the assessment may resubmit it once more. New deadlines for the re-submission will be set in consultation with the candidate. Students will receive feedback indicating the main reasons why the assessment did not pass. Failure to resubmit the work or to pass the assessment, upon reassessment, will lead to the student failing the course. If successful in a reassessment the maximum grade awarded is a Pass of 50%.

6.3 Retakes

A student who fails the module, for instance by not passing a re-submission, has the opportunity to retake it once more. A retake allows the student another attempt at the course assessment i.e. to submit the assessment and, if needed, re-submit it once more. This will be at additional cost. If successful in a retake the maximum grade awarded is a Pass of 50%.

6.4 Exceptional circumstances

All assessed work must be handed in by the set deadlines. If you do not submit your assignment, or you hand it in late, without an explanation you will normally be deemed to have failed the assessment. However, there may be occasions when you feel circumstances outside of your control have affected or have the potential to affect your studies and you need an extension. The University has policies and processes in place to support you and further detail can be found at: https://www.brookes.ac.uk/students/your-studies/exceptional-circumstances/

6.5 Academic practice

Assessment is intended to determine the skills, abilities, understanding and knowledge of each of the individual students undertaking the assessment. Cheating is defined as conduct aimed at deceiving the University into acknowledging a false level of attainment by a student. Any form of cheating is strictly forbidden, but we need to draw attention to the need to avoid plagiarism - the term for the use of unacknowledged sources in assessed work. To avoid plagiarism you must make sure that quotations from whatever source are clearly identified and attributed at the point where they occur in the text of your work by using one of the standard conventions for referencing. Any potential cases of plagiarism, or Academic Misconduct, are referred to a specialist officer, termed an Academic Conduct Officer who investigates a case, interviews the student and awards one of the designated penalties (based on an agreed tariff for different levels of plagiarism).

You must be able to demonstrate that the course work you submit for assessment is your own. You must therefore keep all working documents (electronic and paper) that you used or created while preparing the assignment. Most importantly, you should keep the early developing drafts of your coursework as evidence of the originality of your work by saving each revision to a file with a different name. This material should be kept until after the module results have been published.

If you are not too confident in the accuracy of your written English, you may want to ask someone to help you by checking your work. However it is important that this is not done in such a way that you are committing academic misconduct, which could result in disciplinary action. University guidance about proofreading is available. In addition, if a checking or proofreading service is used, the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences requires you to declare this at the front of your work, giving the name of the person who did this for you.

In instances where a tutor suspects plagiarism in a student's work and decides to refer it, the tutor must download a copy of the student's Turnitin originality report and send it directly to the student. This is to help the student to prepare if they are called for investigation.

6.6 Appeals

Oxford Brookes University Regulation 6.17 Academic Appeals can be found at http://www.brookes.ac.uk/regulations/. This procedure allows you to appeal against your assessment result if it is believed an error has occurred under one of the grounds stated in the regulations. The process for submitting an academic appeal is managed by the Student Investigation and Resolution Team. If you would like independent advice you are strongly advised to consult the Brookes Union Advice Service who can help you decide what your options are and help you put forward your case if you have grounds to do so.

6.7 Complaints

If you have any concerns or complaints about the course we encourage you to discuss the issue with your Academic Adviser initially. If this is not appropriate please raise the matter with the IPC Director who will investigate your concern. However, students may also initiate a formal student complaint to the University within two months of the event. The process for submitting a complaint is managed by the Student Investigation and Resolution Team. For independent advice you can also contact the Brookes Union Advice Service.
