Dear Mike,

We have received ( and accepted ) BMcC debit note 10/152 for £18.13.0 in respect of 12 copies of "Something to answer for", which amount includes £9.13.0 airfreight.

As you may remember, we were informed that these books were being airfreighted to us so that the Booker prize-winning book could receive publicity here at the time of the award, and we ourselves did not ask for them.

So far, in 9 months we have managed to sell two copies, and it looks as if the other 10 will have to be marked down drastically for one of our bargain sales, and eventually given away to the Red Cross library.

In other words, this has been a dead loss to us, and we do hope that when the 1970 award is to be announced we will not again be expected to bear the cost of Booker Books' publicity. If you do want us to display them here, I think it should be on a sale or return basis, with any airfreight for your account.

Yours sincerely,

JH:fc
