Dear Mrs Boyars,

Booker Prize 1972

Thank you for your letter of 21 April enclosing your entry form for Aidan Higgins.

The reason why I am writing is that the word 'galley' slightly worried me, as books will not be considered by the Judges until they are in proof form. I am sure this was only a typing error as you do mention proofs in your last sentence. It is not necessary for the jacket to be ready by July but we would obviously like to have the proofs in as soon as possible.

Your offer to send information about A. B. Higgins will, I am sure, be gratefully received by the Judges, so I look forward to receiving that when you send in the proofs.

Yours sincerely,

Marilyn Edwards
