

Waugh bash

Sir: Of the decision of the Booker committee Auberon Waugh writes: "I hope Mr Connolly will take it from me his flamboyant decision to spit in the face of the novel-writing community has not gone unnoticed."

After all that Mr Waugh has done to novelists this strikes me rather as if Judas were to complain that Jesus had bad breath.

Desmond Elliott

Arlington Book and Publishers Ltd, 38 Bury Street, St James's, London SW1.