

Where's my feedback? (Introduction)

Are you sure that your marks/grades and feedback have been posted?

Usually you will receive an email from your instructor if your feedback and marks/grades are ready for you.

You may also have received an automated email or notification from Moodle if feedback and marks/grades have been given.

If you have not yet received these, it is quite likely that your feedback is not yet ready.

Most instructors aim to have feedback prepared for students between 2-4 weeks of the submission date.

Yet, if you still have not received a notification you either check for it in Moodle or email your instructor asking for clarification.

The simplest way to find your feedback is to go to the assignment dropbox.

This will be located in the same section where you submitted your work.

OnScreen Note:

You can also navigate to the dropbox using the Gradebook. Click 'Grades' and then the title. (In this case a Moodle Assignment.)

OnScreen Note:

You can also navigate to the dropbox using the Navigation Bar. Click 'Grades' and then the title. (In this case a Turnitin Dropbox.)

If your feedback is ready, your 'Submission status' screen will now have some new additions.

If you have comments or questions about your feedback, please ask your instructor.
