Dear Mr. Bellow,

I have much pleasure in enclosing the following official entries for the Booker Prize: Chinnery In China by Kathleen Odell, published by John Murray, Travels In Nihilon by Alan Sillitoe, published by W.H. Allen, The Big Chapel by Thomas Kilroy, published by Faber and Faber Ltd. and The Blind Side by Francis Clifford, published by Hodder and Stoughton Ltd.. There is a rather lengthy letter and list of titles to be considered from Hodder and Stoughton as well. I enclose copies of both. Other titles submitted for your consideration are Doctor Death by Jerome Hartenfels, published by Calder & Boyard and Catching Up by Nicholas Armfelt and House of Gold by Elizabeth Cullinan both published by Faber and Faber Ltd..

We are expecting another five official entries to come in within a week. I will forward these on to you as soon as they are received.

Yours sincerely,

Marilyn Edwards
